

Arabs Engage British Troops in Guerilla Warfare

Jerusalem, Sept. 6 (AP).—Palestine of the Holy Land has become increasingly difficult for the small British Expeditionary Forces, which the Arabs have been engaging in guerilla warfare at widely separated places in Palestine.

The latest disquieting development was reported today. It was an incursion of Bedouins from the Sinai peninsula, who fought British troops in the vicinity of Gaza, south of Palestine, and at Beersheba, about 30 miles southeast of Gaza.

Both places were scenes of sanguinary battles during Lord Allenby's drive against the Turks during the World War. Reinforcements have been sent to the aid of the British at both points.

At the same time raiding Arabs had skirmishes with British troops in the vicinity of Mount Tabor, midway between the Sea of Galilee and the Syrian frontier.

In a skirmish at El Meha, southeast of Nazareth, Arab looters suffered 26 casualties and a Yorkshire detachment of British troops had one casualty.

Jerusalem continued orderly. There was considerable interest in two proclamations stating the different sides of the disorders which have taken such a heavy toll of life and property during the past two weeks.

The first of these statements was from the Arab executive, which met yesterday with all but six of its 48 members present. The six absent notified the others they were prevented from coming to Jerusalem by local authorities.

The Moslem leaders announced they had decided to appeal to the League of Nations and to the World Powers, excepting those exercising mandates, to investigate their grievances against the Jews.

It was claimed the British mandate administration had created the present situation by its pro-Jewish policies. The League was asked to see that a parliamentary government representative of the Arab majority is installed in the Holy Land.

The united Jewish organizations in the country, the Jewish Telegraph Agency said, submitted a memorandum to Sir John Chancellor, high commissioner, in which responsibility for the bloodshed was placed upon agitation fostered by Amin El Hussini, Grand Mufti of Jerusalem and President of the Moslem Council, and on certain members of the Palestine government.

JURY SELECTED FOR TRIAL OF MRS. PANTAGES

Los Angeles, Sept. 6 (AP).—Chosen only after sixty-two talesmen had been questioned, a jury of seven men and five women today faced the task of trying Mrs. Alexander Pantages, wife of the wealthy theatre operator, on a charge of second degree murder, growing out of an automobile accident. The victim was Rokumoto, a Japanese.

The jury spent the night locked up in a hotel and will be locked up each night until the trial, expected to be a long one, is finished.

After his opening statement to the jury this morning, James P. Costello, deputy district attorney, planned to call to the stand the widow of Rokumoto.

The state will attempt to prove that Mrs. Pantages was driving in a reckless manner while under the influence of liquor when her car collided with the machine driven by Rokumoto.

Mrs. Pantages' husband will go on trial September 23 on charges of assault growing out of accusations by Eunice Pringle, 17-year-old dancer, who claims she was attacked in Pantages' private office.

FIGHTS FOR LIFE AT BOTTOM OF 35 FOOT WELL

Ottumwa, Iowa, Sept. 6 (AP).—Buried alive beneath a pile of quicksand and rock which showered down on him yesterday morning, Welken Priest, 55-year-old well cleaner, battled death early today while rescuers attempted to free him from his well prison, 35 feet below the surface.

Continual caveins frustrated attempts of workers to extricate Priest. At one time last night they had him freed to the waist, but another shower of dirt fell upon him.

Priest was cleaning the well when the loosened dirt from the side plunged down upon him. Buried yesterday forenoon, he was still alive early today and told workers he was "keeping his nerve."

Apparently he was in an upright position.

No Age Limit for Enumerators.

Washington, Sept. 6 (AP).—The Census Bureau announced today that no age limit has been fixed for the appointment of enumerators to take the census next year. The announcement was made in response to inquiries from war veterans and their organizations regarding rumors that men over 42 would not be eligible for appointment.

Discussing a Possible "United States of Europe"

Geneva, Sept. 6 (AP).—British, German and Italian reaction to the scheme of Premier Briand of France for the "United States of Europe," was awaited here today with considerable eagerness by delegations to the assembly of the League of Nations.

British and German attitudes were expected to be indicated in some measure at least in speeches by Arthur Henderson, British Foreign Secretary, and Dr. Gustav Stresemann, German foreign minister. It seemed probable Mr. Henderson would speak first, and that Dr. Stresemann would reserve his address for Saturday or Monday.

Meanwhile M. Briand, delighted with the reception accorded his idea, mildly broached in two speeches yesterday, let it be known he would invite representatives of all European nations to confer with him on the subject early next week.

The conferences will be unofficial and will be devoted to examining the possibilities of the vast project.

At that time M. Briand expects to reveal his own ideas of how such a confederation, which he now says should have a political as well as an economic basis, could be created without loss of national sovereignty on the part of the participating governments.

The significance of the vast project has just begun to dawn upon those assembled here. M. Briand and others already endorsing his idea declare there is no idea of giving it an anti-American complexion.

There exists, however, an impression that the project is regarded as a logical consequence of the economic power achieved of late years by the United States.

Two Boys Lost Here, Sent Home

Two Brooklyn Boys Forgot to Get Off Day Line Steamer at Poughkeepsie and Were Stranded Here—Police Take Care of the Lads.

Henry Rouquette, 12, and his brother, Edward, 11, of 386 McDonald street, Brooklyn, do not have to return to school until next week as the schools of New York do not reopen after the summer vacation until then.

The weather has been extremely warm in the big city and the father of the boys decided to give them a treat and allowed them to go for a sail up the Hudson river on a Day Line steamer with the understanding that they would disembark at Poughkeepsie and take the down steamer back to New York.

The boys became somewhat confused and instead of getting off the steamer at Poughkeepsie came on to Kingston Point. Officer Boss took both boys to police headquarters and later in the afternoon the police saw to it that boys were placed on board the VonGonsic Kingston-New York bus in care of the driver. The boys said that as long as they got to 42nd street in New York they would have no trouble in finding their way home.

Strikers Told To Vacate Houses

Marion, N. C., Sept. 6 (AP).—Notice has been given strikers of the Clinchfield Manufacturing Company to vacate company houses on or before September 9.

Serving of the notice last night was answered by strike leaders, with the declaration that they will carry the matter to the Supreme Court of the United States before the houses are vacated.

Citizens of McDowell county were reported to have protested the searching of all visitors to the strike zone, and warrants were expected to be asked today for the arrest of several National Guardsmen on charges of highway robbery.

Daylight Saving Ends September 29

Daylight saving time in Kingston and throughout the state will end on Sunday morning, September 29, at 2 o'clock, when standard time will be resumed. CAPTAIN AND FIVE MEN ROW 18 MILES AFTER SHIP SINKS

Gloucester, Mass., Sept. 6 (AP).—Word has reached here of the safety of Captain Waldo Carrigan and his crew of five of the fishing schooner Edith H. Cooney, which went down early yesterday morning, 20 minutes after the men had given up a fight to keep her afloat.

Carrigan and the others reached Halifax, N. S., in an exhausted condition. They had rowed through 15 miles of heavy seas.

The captain said the ship had been leaking for some days but he had not thought it serious until, suddenly, the bottom seemed to "drop out of her."

Hinds Leaves Kingston With Great Record

"Pop" Frank N. Hinds, one of the greatest and best known coaches in the Hudson Valley is leaving Kingston with a wonderful record. He has put Kingston on the map in the amateur basketball world with his fast and well trained Chandler team which represented the local Y. M. C. A. on the court.

In Mr. Hinds' departure, this city will be losing one of its most valuable residents for he was exceedingly interested in the young boys and instrumental in developing their character, enabling them to see the bright side of life and becoming a highly respected member of their community later in life.

During the two seasons that "Pop" Hinds was coaching the Chandlers they played 102 games, 86 of which were victories and 16 defeats. This is a record that few teams in the state could equal. During the 1927-28 season "Pop" first took over the job as coach. He put his men through many workouts before they took part in any contests but when they did, 15 teams fell at their feet before they were handed the short end of a score.

By this row of wins their reputation grew rapidly and spread widely. It was not long before teams from all over the eastern part of New York and from eastern states were playing them.

These basketball squads were made up of men that had been playing together for three or four seasons but they all seemed to meet their fate at the Chandler's hands.

All the best Y. M. C. A. teams having been chalked up in the column of defeat on the Chandler team's record, "Pop" Hinds entered his five in the North Eastern District State Tournament. Here his team came through again which was a most remarkable feat for its first year of being organized.

By taking this tournament the Chandlers earned the right to enter the national tournament held at Cincinnati. "Pop's" men clashed with the best team in the country and was eliminated after losing two straight games by the margin of seven points.

At the end of this season the Chandlers won 42 out of their 49 games.

With a good record to work on the Chandlers began their 1928-29 basketball campaign and again they went 13 straight games without mixing defeats among them. It looked as though they were going to establish a new record for themselves but they stopped at the 15 and suffered defeat now and then.

However, the Chandlers again entered the district tournament and played four games in one day. They eliminated three teams but when it came to the fourth battle with the big six-footers of the Schenectady team the Chandlers lost.

As the runners-up were allowed to enter the state tournament "Pop" and his men tripped to Buffalo where it was held. The Chandlers again played Schenectady in their first game and were defeated. Previous to the district tournament the Chandlers trimmed Schenectady on the latter's court.

"Pop" Hinds' men were trained so that they worked together like a well oiled machine. His team while in action was something worth seeing, for their passwork and methods of working the ball through their opponents' defense was far superior to nine out of the ten games they played.

The boys that received Mr. Hinds' valuable training were Chet Fox, Joe Dulin, "Red" Kennedy, Joe Hoffman, Joe Blass, Norman Niles, Earl McLane, Jimmy Merritt and "Bank" Krum.

"Pop" was active in every line of sport and was a great athlete himself. He proved this when playing with the celebrated Y's Men in their court battles. While at college he had a great record as an athlete and majored in football, basketball and baseball.

"Pop" knew the most outstanding lesson and that was good sportsmanship. His men was taught this lesson by him and well remembered it for they accepted defeat as they did victory. This all winds up to the fact, that everyone regrets to see "Pop" go.

DEPORTED OPIUM SMUGGLERS WILL BE TRIED IN NANKING

Shanghai, Sept. 6 (AP).—Deported from the United States after the revelation of an opium plot of huge proportions, Ying Kao, former Chinese vice consul at San Francisco, and his young wife were taken into custody by Chinese authorities here today, upon their arrival from San Francisco.

Instead of being jailed at Shanghai as was expected they would be, Kao and his wife were immediately taken to Nanking, where they were booked for trial in the Nanking courts. The date of their trial was not officially made known.

Taching Semi-Official News Agency quoted officials of the government as having said that they were determined to make an example of the pair to all government workers.

AGENTS NOTIFIED OF MOSS APPOINTMENT

Notification has been made to all prohibition enforcement agents and offices of the appointment of William B. Moss as administrator of the 25th district with headquarters at Albany. The local enforcement office was notified today in an official notice that Mr. Moss had sworn in on September 2.

Two Truck Loads Of Beer Seized On Thomas Street

Delivers Are Held in $500 Each on Possession Charge—Seized Goods Destroyed at Wilbur, Where a Large Crowd Gathered.

A federal prohibition officer from the Kingston office on Tuesday night seized a Brockway truck on Thomas street in front of the Eichler Hotel.

On the truck were 70 cases of alleged high power beer. The truck was licensed in the name of Clark J. Seely, of the Seely Ice Cream Company of Hensonville and was in charge of Porter Sherman, 22 years old, of Hensonville. The driver of the truck was arrested and taken before U. S. Commissioner Arthur C. Connelly, where he was held in $500 bail on a possession charge.

The following night another truck load of beer was seized on Thomas street near the Kingston Taxi Garage. At the time the agents discovered the truck it was standing at the curb. On the truck were 50 halves of beer which were seized by the agents and the driver of the truck placed under arrest. Arraigned before Commissioner Connelly he gave his name as Joseph Amato, 24, of Newburgh, and was held in $500 bail for a hearing later on a possession charge.

As the truck was standing at the curb when the agents seized it no charge of transportation could be made. An investigation showed the truck was licensed in the name of Jack Kaminow of 138 Broadway, Newburgh.

Agents were engaged today in destroying the seized goods after samples had been taken. The destruction was at Wilbur, where a large crowd of people gathered to watch the beer flow from bottles and barrels. Containers in which the beer had been were also destroyed.

Not Really Gang Affairs at All

Police Commissioner Says Recent Double Murder Was Result of Hold Up of a Sunday Game of Craps.

Chicago, Sept. 6 (AP).—John Stege, deputy commissioner of police, delivered himself today of some positive ideas in connection with Chicago gang murders—murders which he said were not really gang affairs at all.

Stege said he had learned the motive behind the double execution of Frank (Cy) Cawley and Edward Westcott, west side hoodlums and gangsters, who were slain early yesterday. It had nothing to do with gang vengeance or gang warfare, he said. It evolved from a game of dice on a Sabbath afternoon.

"Usually, in case of murders of this kind, the tendency is to ascribe the killings to some of the well known gang groups—the Capone outfit, the Moral-Allelo syndicate, and others," Stege said. "The most isolated crimes have been so attributed. As a result, Chicago has been given a bad name as a city where the technique of murder is different than elsewhere. Actually, murder is the same here as any place else."

"Frank Cawley had many enemies who doubtless were anxious to kill him. Most underworld characters have. He was one of those types that preyed upon others of his own kind. Westcott was of the same ilk; a pair of cheap criminals. They were not gangsters, nor did they war on gangs."

"Why were they killed? A crap game had been going on every Sunday afternoon in a recreation hall on the west side. Last Sunday it was held up, and the players said their total losses were $6,000.

"Cawley didn't take part in the holdup. He was too well known. The victims, however, held him responsible, and marked him for death. Willie Davis, one of Cawley's friends, was another man the crap shooters decided to 'get'."

"Well, they got Cawley. Westcott happened to be with him, and they got him too. If they find Davis before we do, Davis will be the next."

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE CROSS TO OGDENSBURG MAN.

Washington, Sept. 6 (AP).—Award of the distinguished service cross to Joseph Mastine of Ogdensburg, N. Y., formerly a private in Company D, 19th Infantry, 27th Division, for extraordinary heroism in action at Ronssor, France, September 29, 1928, was announced yesterday by the war department.

Mastine was cited for volunteering to raid a machine gun nest, killing two and capturing five of the enemy who were holding up the advance of his company.

Mastine, then a private, was pouring deadly fire on the American forces, killed the gunner, put the gunner out of action and jumped into a German trench, killing two and capturing 15 soldiers.

Fake Transfer Orders Amounted To Half Million

New York, Sept. 6 (AP).—Search was under way today for a man representing himself as C. D. Waggoner, Colorado banker, to explain a mysterious $500,000 transaction in which six large New York banks were victims of fake telegraphic money transfer orders.

Thus far no real money has been lost, as the entire half million dollar transaction was executed with banking paper.

The scheme was put into operation August 5 when the six New York banks each received a telegram in bankers' code directing the deposit of sums to the credit of the Bank of Telluride, Col., in the Wall Street branch of the Chase National Bank.

The orders were as follows: The Chemical National Bank, $100,000 on order of the First National Bank of Denver; the First National Bank of New York, $100,000 on order of the Denver National Bank; the Guaranty Trust Company, $75,000 on order of the United States National Bank of Denver; the National City Bank, $75,000 on order of the Colorado National Bank; the Harriman National Bank, $75,000 on order of the American National Bank of Denver; and the Equitable Trust, $75,000 on order of the International Trust of Denver.

On August 31 a man who was accepted by the Central Hanover Bank as C. D. Waggoner, President of the Bank of Telluride, presented himself there and after paying on a note for $250,000 of the bank of Telluride, and a personal note of C. D. Waggoner for $60,000, ordered $10,000 telegraphed to the Bank of Telluride and purchased a banker's check for $180,000.

These transactions were made with cashier's checks on the bank of Telluride, certified by the Chase National Bank, and drawn against the $500,000 credit established by the telegraphic orders.

While police and private detectives hired by the American bankers association were seeking the person who said he was Mr. Waggoner, the six New York banks also were on the lookout for the $180,000 bankers' check, as that is the only piece of paper which could be converted into cash.

O. E. Downtain, cashier of the Bank of Telluride, told bankers here over the telephone that Mr. Waggoner left Telluride for New York last week and he believed he was still there.

The scheme was discovered last Tuesday when the Denver Banks received notices from their New York corresponding banks that the various transfers ordered in the code telegrams had been executed.

Denver, Col., Sept. 6 (AP).—In an effort to solve a financial puzzle involving the attempt of a man representing himself as C. D. Waggoner, president of the bank of Telluride, Col., to obtain by telegraphic orders a half million dollars from six large banks of New York, police and private detectives today began extensive search for Waggoner, who has been missing for ten days.

The mystery surrounding the transaction was heightened by the publication here of a statement that a Denver banker, who refused to allow his name to be used, had received a letter from Waggoner Monday saying: "I have received a $500,000 gift from the Denver Clearing House Association, at least I assume it is a gift, for there are no strings attached to it."

It was known here that Waggoner left his home in Telluride August 25 and was in Denver August 28.

State banking officials found the bank of Telluride solvent, although its business had depreciated greatly during the last few years because of the decline of the mining industry in that section.

Telluride was formerly a booming town and the bank once had deposits of more than $1,000,000. At present its deposits total $350,000.

SAYS BIG APPROPRIATION WOULD BUILD UP OLIGARCHY

Tampa, Fla., Sept. 6 (AP).—George W. Bean, for 12 years Republican national committeeman for Florida, succeeded a year or so ago by Glenn Skipper, of Miami, expressed the belief here today that the appropriation of $26,000,000, "or any other larger sum to fight the Mediterranean fruit fly would build up a political oligarchy in Florida more damaging to the state than the fly itself."

"So long as a dollar was left from the pest," he added, "another million probably could be spent judiciously, however," he believed.

Bean declared the status of his party in Florida was deplorable; that present leaders are not being recognized by the administration because of internal strife in the organization, and that recommendations for federal positions are not being accepted by the postmaster general or the department of justice.

Scour Desert Wastes For Missing Air Liner

At Least 70 Airplanes Actively Engaged or Under Orders to Proceed—Cloudy Weather and Poor Visibility Add to Hazards Which Searchers Had to Cope—Indians Join in Search.

(By the Associated Press.) Search for the missing City of San Francisco, missing since Tuesday, today continued the wide stretch of territory from Albuquerque, N. M., to the Imperial Valley at California, with at least 70 airplanes actively engaged or under orders to proceed.

An area about 500 miles in diameter, centering at Gallup, N. M., was concentrated upon, although much of this section previously had been covered. Additional searches combed the depths of Bryce and Zion Canyons in Southern Utah and the Grand Canyon of the Colorado River in Arizona.

All the planes in the southwest were placed at the disposal of the searchers on orders from the war department. Thirteen Navy planes and 15 Army planes at San Diego likewise were made ready for the hunt. T. A. T. officials announced that 25 private and commercial planes would take on at Los Angeles to join the 17 planes now in the vicinity of Gallup.

Several hundred Zuni Indians around Gallup and Zuni lent their keen eyes and desert training to the hunt.

An order from T. A. T. headquarters in St. Louis suspended eastward service on the line but announced that a westbound plane would proceed as far as Winslow today to join two T. A. T. airliners there.

Searchers afoot and on horseback were made up from the small communities along the Arizona-New Mexico border.

Cloudy weather and poor visibility added to the hazards with which the searchers had to cope. The jagged country, characterized by rugged mountains, dead volcanoes and lava washes, offer little opportunity for emergency landing.

In addition to running chances of becoming lost themselves or having to make a forced landing upon the wild terrain the fliers faced the difficulty of being unable to clearly distinguish objects on the queerly colored and deceptive landscape.

Still Hopeful. In spite of the blank wall which has confronted the searchers at every turn thus far, H. W. Beck, western traffic manager of the T. A. T. at Los Angeles issued a statement saying he was still "hopeful" regarding the hunt.

There was at least one person more hopeful than Beck—Mrs. J. B. Stowe, wife of the pilot. Fearless and confident despite the widespread belief that the City of San Francisco had met with disaster, Mrs. Stowe said at her home in Clovis, N. M.

"I know he is safe somewhere. He is just where he cannot communicate with anyone. He would fly far from the regular course, he told me, if he were forced to make a landing, in order to come down with some degree of safety."

"He knows the country perfectly and I know they will find him safe, with the plane probably disabled. He said not to expect any word from him for several days if he ever had to land in any of the forsaken country over which he sometimes flies."

A fleet of 35 planes was prepared at various airports throughout southern California to aid the planes centered at Winslow.

On the theory that the City of San Francisco might have outridden the storm over New Mexico and Arizona and then penetrated into the desert of Southern California before being forced down, searching parties were sent into the Grand Canyon of the Colorado river.

These searchers, sent out by the Union Pacific Railroad, also went into Bryce Canyon and Zion Canyon of southern Utah to check reports that the plane had been seen over that area.

BROOKLYN BOYS WANT HALF PENNIES MINTED

Washington, Sept. 6 (AP).—Two Brooklyn boys want a half penny coin to save their pennies. They have written the House of Representatives a letter, which reads:

"Dear Gentlemen of the House, 'I would like to know if you could pass a bill providing for half pennies. The reason is that around our way they sell cakes 2 for five cents (5c), one costs three cents. So if we could have half pennies we would only have to pay 2 and 4 cents."

"Thanking you in advance, Answer please."

The letter was signed by Morris Rappaport, 1752 Sterling Place, Milton Winston, 1731 Sterling Place. The letter was addressed to the "House of Representatives, care of the government, Washington." It was delivered to the office of Representative Somers, Democrat, New York, who represents their district.

N. Front Street Stores 'Wide Open'

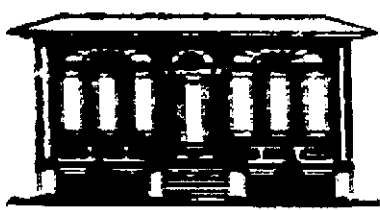

The agreement which was entered into some time ago between the clothing dealers of North Front street, agreeing to keep their stores closed evenings after 6 o'clock is no longer in force and evenings the stores are open for business. North Front street becoming "wide open" again is said to be due to the fact that a merchant failed to live up to the terms of the agreement and in order to meet competition other merchants who had signed the agreement decided to cancel the closing order and fall in line.

BALLS AND CHAINS FOR BOOTLEG PRISONERS.

Elgin, Ill., Sept. 6 (AP).—A law half a century old has been dusted off by Circuit Judge Olney Allen to curb liquor law violations in Kane county. The law provides that bootleggers and other illegal purveyors of intoxicants may be made to work out fines at the rate of $1.50 a day, and that jailers are "privileged" to attach balls and chains to them" to prevent escape.

Judge Allen said the imposition of fines has had little effect in curtailing bootlegging, and he indicated the old law would be invoked in flagrant cases.

"Glad To Tell Others What Glorious Health Nu-Erb Has Given Me"

"Am Feeling Better Since Using This Wonderful Medicine Than I Have for Ten Years," Says Mrs. Turner.

"Judging from the wonderful results that I have had from just a few bottles of Nu-Erb, I am sure that hundreds of local folks will be pleased to have such a splendid medicine available and I for one am very glad to have the opportunity to tell others about the glorious feeling of new health that Nu-Erb has given me," said Mrs. F. C. Turner, 145 Main St., Poughkeepsie, N. Y., in a recent interview.

"For ten years I had been suffering from stomach, kidney and liver troubles. It seems as though I was never free from indigestion and a distressing gas in my stomach. Bits of sour, undigested food came up in my throat like vinegar and at times I would get such dizzy spells that I would have to hold on to something for fear of falling. My back ached continually and my kidneys disturbed me several times each night. Rheumatism settled in my joints and muscles causing them to be stiff and aching all the time. I became very nervous and felt tired and worn out with no energy to do my work."

"I tried medicine after medicine and treatment after treatment, but during all those years there was nothing that has ever helped me the way Nu-Erb has. I can eat just about anything I like now and never worry about any pain or distress in my stomach afterward. The rheumatic pains and the backache are a thing of the past and my kidneys are apparently in such fine condition that I sleep the whole night through undisturbed. I am no longer troubled with dizzy spells or headaches as I used to be. My nerves are stronger and that tired, worn out feeling has completely disappeared. As a result I am feeling better now than for any time that I can remember. I gladly recommend this wonderful medicine to anyone."

Bell-Ringing Clocks

Perhaps the earliest tower clock with bell-ringing mechanism was one made by Peter Lightfoot, a monk of Glanbury, England, about 1325, writes Satis N. Coleman in his book "Bells." Connected with this clock were automatic figures which struck a bell on the hours. These performing figures pleased the public, and many of the town clocks of Europe were provided with such figures to ring the bells on the hours. They were used for proclaiming time long before the introduction of clock dials.—Detroit News.

NOAX ALMOST WINS HOME FOR SOLDIER

Convinces Jersey Couple He's Their Son.

Camden, N. J.—A young man whom parents separated when he was ten without making proper provision for him, and who has longed ever since for a home and the affection of a mother and father, by quick thinking almost won those things for himself, but not quite. The story he hastily patched up felt in a sad hurry under police questioning here recently.

The youth is Howard H. Marks, twenty-two, 6 feet tall, good looking, very earnest and very homesick. After drifting about in so very happy manner until he was seventeen, he joined the army. He has been with it ever since and has still a few months to serve. Recently he obtained a furlough and came back to the states from Panama. Seeking a chance to lay aside a penny or two during his vacation he went to Bridgeton and got a job as berry picker on a farm.

Meets "Mother." Picking berries near him one day was Mrs. Harry Galasso of Camden, a kindly, middle-aged woman. She looked up at the youth and told him his eyes were just like those of her lost son. His features were very similar too, she said. Her boy disappeared ten years ago, when he was seven, while playing on a wharf in the Delaware river. It was supposed he was drowned, but no one saw him fall in the water and his body never was recovered.

She asked the youth picking berries next to her to tell her something about his life. He looked hard at her kind, mother's face. He thought fast. Then he told her he had been kidnapped when he was seven. Mrs. Galasso seemed excited. She asked him more questions, but he made some excuse and broke away from her.

He sought out other berry pickers. Mrs. Galasso's story was familiar to them all. She had told it many times. He asked them for details of her son's disappearance, for some information about her and her husband their home, their relatives and help. ors.

"Father" Convinced. When she found him again and pursued her questions he was prepared. He told of being kidnapped and taken to a house in Atlantic City, of escaping from there and knocking about until he was old enough to join the army. He was seventeen, he said. From what little he purported to be able to remember of his early childhood, Mrs. Galasso became convinced she had found her long lost son.

An excited telephone call brought Mr. Galasso, a small truck farmer, to Bridgeton. He, too, was convinced. It was a happy reunion. The Galassos had found their son and Howard Marks had found a home.

They took him back to their house. Mrs. Galasso, proud and overjoyed, cooked a fine big dinner. They took him out and bought him new shoes, a new hat, a new suit.

Then, desiring to punish the kidnapers who had carried off their only child and caused them so much sadness, they took him to the county court house in Camden. It was not long before detectives discovered several inconsistencies in his story of his kidnapping and subsequent adventures.

Soon they had him cornered and when they threatened to send to Fort Monmouth, N. Y., for his enlistment papers he admitted the hoax. He wanted a home more than anything else, he said, and when he saw the chance to get one, he couldn't resist. He cried a little, and opposite him Mrs. Galasso was sobbing.

"How could you be so cruel?" she asked the youth. "I thought I had found my boy at last."

Marks said he was sorry if he had caused harm. If they didn't want him he'd clear out as fast as possible—and that's what he did.

Clinic Tragedy Gives Life to Pittsburgher

Fort Wayne, Ind.—Although the Cleveland Clinic explosion brought death to many, it meant life of Earl Simminger, forty-three, of Pittsburgh, former resident here. Through action of Judge George H. Leonard in Superior court, Simminger, declared legally dead two years ago, has been restored to life by the law.

After reading newspaper accounts of the clinic blast Simminger was attracted to the scene. While in Cleveland he met a brother, and learned that he had been declared dead by court action. His relatives had not heard from him for 19 years.

Legal action to declare him dead was taken upon the death of his father to facilitate distribution of an estate.

With action set aside, Simminger has been paid $1,500 as his part of the estate.

Salmon 54 Years in Tin Is Found Still Good

Olympia, Wash.—Canned to keep for a century, Columbia river salmon which was sealed and processed in an especially made tin in 1875 was examined recently. No sign of deterioration was detected. The tin covering has resisted corrosion and there is reason to believe that the contents will be as good in 1975 as when freshly packed. J. W. V. Cook, pioneer fish merchant on the Pacific coast, packed the salmon at his plant at Clifton, Ore., 54 years ago.

Region of Islands. The Thousand Islands are located in the St. Lawrence river. They run from Clayton down approximately to Cape Vincent, N. Y. The islands obtain their name from the fact that there are so many tiny islets dotting the river.

Kiwanis Kapers Making Progress

At the weekly Kiwanis Club meeting the various Kiwanis Kapers committees reported encouraging progress. The Booster Committee working on the special "Booster" to be issued by The Freeman, reported a very generous response from all thus far interviewed. From all appearances the Kiwanis Kapers which are to be given September 27 and 28 at the Broadway Theatre, will be the most successful ever held. Every Kiwanian is overflowing with enthusiasm to reap a substantial profit to enable the club to carry out its special objective of a city clinic in addition to continuing its present welfare activity.

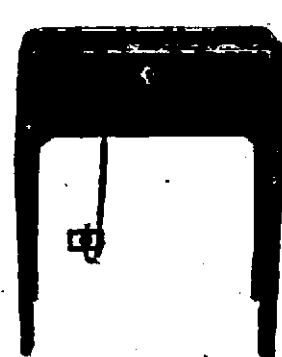

Dr. Sigmund Spaeth amused the club by demonstrating how the Jack and Jill verse may be set to oratorio, grand opera and jazz. Dr. Spaeth was at one time national chairman of the committee on music of Kiwanis International. Dr. Wright Smith was proposed for membership. Quite a delegation of local Kiwanians are planning to attend the New York state convention to be held at Lake Placid September 12, 13 and 14. In the absence of President Doty, who will be at the convention, Past President Dr. Aden Gates will preside next Thursday.

No Longer So. Trees were the greatest enemies of our pioneer forefathers. It took them two centuries to new their way through a thousand miles of forest before they emerged into the plains of the Middle West.—American Magazine.

Imports of tea to the United States for the fiscal year ending in June mounted to more than 93,500,000 pounds.

ON REARING CHILDREN FROM CRIB TO COLLEGE

The crisis in the family today—and every one will undoubtedly admit that there is a crisis—comes from the weakness of the influence which used to hold the institution together. The power of religion is lessened. Law and society are far more indulgent than they used to be. This freedom to do as one pleases is felt more strongly if there are no children. Where there are children parents do not want them to gain the sense of discord in the home, and make an effort to accommodate their differences. Also there is the economic necessity of working together to take care of the young ones. Many a family is kept together solely because of the children.

Behavior traits of children seem to bear a distinct relationship to their order of birth in the family. At the Minneapolis Child Guidance clinic 293 kindergarten children were studied with reference to 14 traits. In general oldest children showed significant tendencies toward lack of aggressiveness and self-confidence, lack of leadership qualities, much suggestibility and some seclusiveness and introversion; middle children showed these traits in lesser degree; youngest children showed no outstanding characteristics but much individual variation. "Only children" were marked by aggressiveness and self-confidence, gregarious interests, and for instability of mood and attention.

The method of handling your child's sun bath depends largely upon his coloring. The dark skinned child can stand much more sun on his body, even at first, while the blond child will burn quickly. A real sunburn is always to be avoided, as, aside from the pain and discomfort involved, the skin must heal completely before it can again be exposed, and the effects of your early sun bath will be neutralized.

It is an easy thing to make children reasonably happy on a train trip, but few parents look far enough ahead to provide for their children's entertainment. They carefully plan changes of clothing, perhaps a box of crackers or some cookies or other treat to quiet them when they become too troublesome, and then drop the matter there. A good plan is to let each child have his own suitcase for which he is responsible and which he can open, shut and arrange as he pleases. Put in each suitcase several surprise packages—containing playthings which are suitable for use on the train—for instance, a small domino set, a game of old maid, scissors, a box of crayons, etc., and your children will be kept quiet and busy for a long time.

A surprisingly large number of parents put their children in a private school's lap and feel that their responsibility ends there. This is hardly fair. Few schools can take your child, make of him a wise, kindly and charming being as well as an intelligent citizen without your help. But there are many schools which, given the intelligent, understanding co-operation of parents, will make an excellent job of it.

Good lighting demands that the source of the light be shielded from view, and that the rays of light be directed upon the objects to be seen. It is the light which is reflected from the walls and furniture that gives us a clear vision of things, not the light which comes in a direct line from the electric lamp to our eyes.

Ecru Lace, Brown Velvet Ribbon, Chic Fall Wear

Shades of autumn are pronounced in a charming frock of ecru lace and brown velvet ribbon. The graceful and popular long skirt is edged with red, white brown velvet ribbon and is showered with tawny flowers adorns the bodice.

Rat Population
Of course there is no way to take a census of the rats in the United States, but the public health service estimates that there are probably 125,000,000 of these animals in this country.

ELEANOR GUNN ON FASHIONS

AUTUMN OFFERS MANY ADVENTURES IN SEARCH OF THE PERFECT HAT

New York—The selection of one's hat this fall has all the thrill of an adventure. They are nothing if not different, and the pursuit of the perfect hat leads one into as strange adventures in the looking glass as ever fell to the lot of Alice. One's brow seems so frightfully naked, one's eyes so cruelly unshaded! To offset this there is a softness about the side and back treatment which compenlow and hats are smart always and becoming often. It may take a little time to become reconciled to the new veil, and it is long of course only in formal places that it does dress one up and is fascinating, is conceded. These veils are all very circular affairs with unobtrusive designs, or none at all save what a chequered beauty spot may contribute.

By its long back brim, or its one-sided elongated brim, is the fall hat dated as much as by its shallow crown and its cut away forehead. One already sees many hats characterized in such ways and is frequently brought to a realization that fabrics other than felt have at last arrived.

Most of us rejoice at an opportunity to put a feather in our cap, fashion quite falls in line with this idea, providing that the feather is flattened against the hat so that it conforms with the idea that the hat must provide a frame for the face.

Much Depends on Children's Dress

Clothes Have to Do With Formation of Character, Writer Says.

When planning the practical yet becoming school frocks, Ethel Marshall's interesting comments must be kept in mind. She writes in Farm and Fireside:

"We mothers love to sit and dream of what we want our little girls to be when they grow up. We have dreamed as we sewed, wishing but scarcely realizing that the very things we are sewing may help determine whether or not our dreams come true."

Today the best psychologists are stressing the point that a child's clothes play an important part in the formation of adult character. Whether the young woman is to be bold and brazen or modest and dignified may depend on how she is dressed as a child. Whether your young daughter develops into a self-confident and successful person or remains self-conscious and shy, may depend on the clothing you have provided for her.

"Line and color, harmony and appropriateness must be considered since each has a definite effect. In general, the dark-eyed child wears brighter colors—red, rose, orange or purple; while the fair, high-colored child must be content with delicate blue, green, yellow and beige. But there are so many tints and shades in clothing colors, and so many degrees of human coloring, that no child should be flatteringly denied the color of her heart's desire just because her eyes happen to be blue. We must manage to gratify cherished desires and still emphasize the child's best points, or at least not draw attention to the weaker ones.

"Children react sensitively to the opinions and attitudes of people about them. We can call to mind from actual observation a picture of some little girl walking shamblingly along the street. Her dress was too long, and she knew it. She knew, too, the other things that weren't quite right—that place fastened with a safety pin, the holes in her stocking heels. She knew she didn't look nice, she stumbled along as though nothing mattered. A child of a more independent nature returned our glances stare for stare, instantly ready for a rude grimace or retort, just to show that she didn't care what her clothes looked like. The pity of it is how very much such a child does care; you have seen this happen every day. Perhaps you never stopped to think that the clothes had anything to do with it. But actual tests show that they do.

"Teachers say that the well-dressed child often performs best in school even though the balance of brains may be in favor of a poorly dressed playmate. And educators tell us that nothing succeeds like success and nothing fails like failure. Apparently either may become a habit. Habits of neatness, habits of good taste, habits of success—it's quite a ways we travel from our sewing baskets. But after all, that only makes the sewing basket more interesting, to know that instead of sewing only seams and garments we are actually shaping character and destiny."

Indianapolis is considering the installation of a police radio communication system.

Cultivate Serenity to Fight Mental Fatigue

Mental fatigue cuts down efficiency and spoils happiness. American life with its high-power speed for both work and play produces an unusual amount of mental fatigue. To aid in the cultivation of more serene habits, Dr. Laurence H. Smith, writing in Hygeia Magazine, makes the following suggestions:

1. When we work, let us keep our interest in it and make it pleasurable.
2. When we play, let us enter into it for all it is worth without regard for anything else.
3. When we rest and sleep, let us turn the mind and body loose to themselves and let them do what they will. Learn to rest the mind by leaving the mind alone.
4. When we think, let us make a decision and carry it out. If we decide incorrectly it can be reconsidered later.
5. When we are very tired, let us not permit a temporary or extreme emotional reaction to drive us into an act that will have permanent results.

Large Hat for Young Fads

The large capote hats which make their appearance each year are thoroughly charming on some women but they seldom achieve more than a temporary or limited popularity. The reason is that the big hat is essentially the hat of youth. It emphasizes and sets off the beautiful line from our chin and the graceful curve from nose of neck to brow.

OUR DAILY PATTERN

A Pretty Frock for Slender Figures

6249. Delightfully cool and youthful is this pleasing model. It may be developed with or without the wrist length sleeves, and the collar. The bonnet waist is mounted on an underbody which may be of lining.

The right front is crossed over the left front in the popular diagonal closing. The skirt shows gathered fullness over the center. Dotted silk in blue and white or red and white with pipings in a matched shade of crepe de chine is here pictured. This style is also good for printed georgette, chiffon or voile. Canton crepe or satin may also be used.

The Pattern is cut in 3 sizes: 16, 18 and 20 years. A 16 year size will require 1 1/2 yard of 32 inch lining and 4 yards of 35 inch material if made as illustrated in the large view. To face girdle with contrasting material will require 3/4 yard 35 inches wide. To make the dress with long sleeves and without collar will require 2 1/2 yards of 35 inch material. To finish with bias binding requires 2 1/4 yards. The width of the dress at the lower edge is 1 1/2 yard. A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Fashion Book Notice

Send 15c in coin or stamps to The Freeman for our up-to-date Spring and Summer 1929 Book of Fashions showing color plates, and containing 500 designs of ladies', misses' and children's patterns, a concise and comprehensive article on dressmaking, also some points for the needle (illustrating 30 of the various simple stitches), all valuable hints to the home dressmaker.

Signing bills at midnight has given Governor Fred Kohler of Wisconsin a problem, as the point was raised, did one day end at midnight or another one begin?

After plaid? Then you'd like Suzanne's soft wool knit skirt and white fingered blouse with the new golf collar and neat front. Here is a plain jacket to go with the suit.

The teacher had the letters read on the blackboard and was trying to teach little Pansy Peavish to pronounce the word, but Pansy wouldn't come to it. "Think," said the teacher, "what is it that has some whiskers and comes up on the porch late at night when it is cold and legs to come into the house?" "Oh, I know!" exclaimed little Pansy, a great light dawning. "It's papa!"

BACK FROM VACATION
I had a long vacation how to work. All about I sat before the window keys. And though I truly do not wish to think, I have no energy, I have no ease. I have no notion of how one sets out to put his thoughts on paper—and indeed I have no thought to put there, and I want my strength to write what any one will read.
Now there's a mystery unsolved as yet—Twelve months of regular and daily grind had no effect of making me forget how to be idle. "Habit of the mind" ceased on the instant of the holiday. Without an effort. Then a short two weeks' Elapse, and labor's habit fades away—The soul abhors it, the machinery creaks. This proves precisely the Eternal Plan Which we have spoiled; it demonstrates the fact That Laziness is the Natural State of Man. And Work a Sinful and Abnormal Act!

Uneasy is the tooth that wears the crown.

One should pay his grocer first for food and his doctor next for treating him for overeating.

Bo: "Know how people first started swimming?"
Zo: "Yeah, when a Scotchman came to the West toll bridge."

It is foolish for old age to worry about the frightful tendencies of contemporary youth. Each generation gets to eat its own oats, and also has the pleasure of worrying about the next crop.

Master: "What is your name, my boy?"

New Boy: "Julius Johnson, sir."
Master: "Julius, my boy, not Julius! You shouldn't spoil such a noble name as Julius! And what is your name, my boy?"

Next Boy (confused): "Billious Smith, sir."

A Kingston druggist might recommend that another way to keep fashionably slender is to reach for a broom when the maid leaves, instead of reaching for the phone to put an ad in the paper for a new maid.

What has become of the old-fashioned wife who felt sorry for her husband because he had to work too hard?

An Englishman arriving home after an extensive tour in America, was asked about the road conditions there. He testified as follows:

"Nearly all the roads in America are really good. The Lincoln Highway, Washington Boulevard, Jefferson Highway, and all the roads built by the great Americans are really excellent. But some bloomin' Frenchman by the name of DeTour built a lot of branch roads that are simply horrible, doncha know!"

We'll Take Lemon.

"Are you the doctor?" asked the young lady of the Kingston soda jerker.

"Naw," he replied, "I'm just the fizzician."

Nobody wants to be the picture in a frame-up.

Cathode Ray Tube Used in Finding False Jewels

Lynn, Mass.—The newly developed cathode ray tube, designed to separate genuine and synthetic gems, has been put into commercial use for the first time by the General Electric company here. Sapphires, second only to diamonds in hardness, are widely used by the company as jewels for bearings in meters and other delicate electrical instruments. The new tube is proving invaluable, it is said, in sorting gems.

Discover Coal In Ontario

Toronto, Sept. 6 (P).—Discovery of extensive coal deposits, one of the few minerals hitherto unfound in Ontario, has been announced by Premier Ferguson. He said a bed one mile long and a half mile wide, estimated to contain from 7,000,000 to 1,000,000 tons of lignite, a low grade fuel, has been found along the Abitibi river at Blacksmith Rapids, near Cochrane. He described the discovery as the most important mining development in Ontario in years.

Male Critic Severe on Work of Women Poets

If an effort were made to determine what elements constitute feminine poetry, one would name first its chief characteristic—subjectivity. When a woman writes poetry her emotions generally center around herself and she is only interested in the world as something that reflects favorably or unfavorably on her own individuality. It is usually favorable and when unfavorable, wistfully agonized, writes Herbert G. Brunchen, in the North American Review.

As an artist it is rarely that a woman can translate her emotions objectively; in other words to comprehend the world and the human beings that are part of it, not as they touch herself, but as they affect the great lot of humanity.

Feminine poetry, moreover, when it is cheerful, is generally so in a superficial way; it is too often over-refined through an erroneous and typically feminine conception of the difference between refinement and truth. It is embroidery poetry, very apt to be sentimental and cloyingly sweet.

And only in rare instances does one find a poem written by a woman where the unpleasantness and even tragic truths of human relationships have not been carefully censored or glossed over.

Wild Camels

In certain parts of both Asia and Africa there are still herds of wild camels in existence that yet are too wild for even the natives to attempt to tame them.

ENGLAND'S BEST NEWS
BEING DEPICTED IN CARTOONU. S. Builds Mega Vault in New York for Storage of Dangerous Drugs.

New York—Meeting the challenge of the New York underworld, the United States is constructing the largest vault ever built anywhere for the storage of dangerous drugs.

The vault is nearing completion on the seventh floor of building A at the army base in South Brooklyn. When its massive steel doors, more formidable than those used in bank vaults, arrive from a Pennsylvania factory, the vault will be ready to protect additional millions of dollars' worth of cocaine, heroin, opium and morphine.

Every well-informed gangster in the metropolis knows about the new vault. For organized crime in New York for the past three years has been making persistent and almost incredibly daring attempts to overwit the army guardians of the base.

Gangland knows what the public does not suspect—that is, the army is storing in Brooklyn not only the largest drug supply ever collected under one roof, but the largest amount of pure liquor in any one place in the country.

The underworld always has a market for good whisky and rare wines, for they can be diluted a great deal. And it needs dope to nerve its denizens on to holdups and assaults of the more vicious sort.

Uncle Sam, on the other hand, is hoarding the narcotics for hospital use in the next war and is taking new precautions every month to trap his criminal opponents.

The scene of the struggle is 100 acres of waterfront property between Fifty-eighth and Sixty-fifth streets. Ten-foot high wire surrounds three sides of the army base and water the fourth. Armed guards pace up and down at the entrance to protect this principal peace time supply place of the whole army, where everything, from locomotives to funnel shirts, is stored.

The United States ran short of drugs in the last war, as did other nations. Next time it intends to be prepared. Drugs do not deteriorate. When seized throughout the country frequently they are shipped by court authorities to the two vaults already in use, one on the sixth, another on the third floor of building A.

Women Now Play Larger
Part in Research Work

Pasadena, Calif.—Indicating the increasing part played by women in scientific research, it was learned today that there are seven college trained women on the Mount Wilson observatory staff.

Miss Louise Ware, a Vassar graduate, is working with Dr. Charles E. St. John in connection with studies of standards of wave lengths and in the revision of Rowland's preliminary table of solar spectrum wave lengths.

Miss Cora Burwell, Mount Holyoke graduate, has published papers with Dr. W. S. Adams, director of the observatory, on the flash spectrum of the sun. She is now assisting Dr. Paul W. Merrill in stellar research.

Assisting Prof. T. E. Searles in research work on the distribution of the stars, are Miss Mary C. Joyner, Miss Myrtle Richmond and Miss Nanna Marsh. Miss Joyner and Miss Richmond are alumnae of Smith college. Miss Marsh is a Hunter college graduate.

Miss Elizabeth Sternberg, graduate of the University of California, is working with Dr. S. B. Nicholson on sunspot activity, and Mrs. Katherine P. Kaster, another Berkeley graduate, is engaged in stellar research.

Finds New Germ That
Proves Foe to Fever

Portland, Ore.—A new germ that may prove highly important in the diagnosis of fever cases has been discovered, according to Dr. Frank W. Hartman, in charge of the Ford hospital laboratories in Detroit, who spoke here recently before the American Society of Clinical Pathologists.

In a paper read before the society, Doctor Hartman disclosed that the new germ had been found as a result of clinical work in the recent epidemic of flu which swept through the eastern states.

"Pfeiffer's bacillus," he said, "generally believed to be the cause of influenza, ordinarily is not fatal to animals. This new organism when tried on animals, however, produces hemorrhagic pneumonia, with death resulting in from 24 to 36 hours."

Mount Guyot Found to Be East's Highest Peak

Knoxville, Tenn.—Mount Mitchell in the Black mountains near Asheville in western North Carolina, which for a century has enjoyed the reputation of being the highest point east of the Rocky mountains, is discovered as a result of a government survey just completed. Mount Guyot in the Great Smoky mountains will now hold the spot.

Engineers found by aneroid barometer tests that Mount Guyot towers 7,065 feet above sea level, or 207 feet above Mount Mitchell.

Mount Guyot is included in the boundaries of the Great Smoky mountains national park on the Tennessee-North Carolina boundary, 50 miles from Knoxville and 25 miles from Newport, Tenn.

Alcohol as Anesthetic
Ordinary alcohol injected directly into the bloodstream has been tried successfully as an anesthetic in two operations in a London hospital recently. The new method is the invention of a Mexican doctor.

England Now
Bans Strikes

Manchester, England, Sept. 6 (AP).—England, recovering from a cotton mill strike and facing imminent problems of a similar nature in railways, mines and ship building, is showing a growing tendency to ban strikes and lockouts as instruments of industrial policy. Employers and workers generally are coming into agreement that force is an obsolete method of settling trade disputes and arbitration is coming to the fore.

This tendency was greatly enhanced by the action in the Lancashire cotton trades trouble. Differences between cotton mill workers and employers were settled by arbitration.

A notable example of cooperation between workers and employers in solving a trade problem is found in the railways. A year ago the unions agreed to a voluntary reduction of two and a half per cent in wages. These unions have now decided to end the agreement and apply for a restoration of the two and a half per cent. Their decision will be negotiated within the next two or three months and it is predicted that friendly feelings will prevail.

In the mining industry within the next month or or there will be difficult negotiations on the question of hours. In a recent speech Ramsay MacDonald, the prime minister, hinted that the mine operators and workers would do well to arbitrate their differences and it is considered a good sign that the mine operators have decided at least to meet the government and talk things over.

Abolish Sunday As Day of Rest

Moscow, Sept. 6 (AP).—The Soviet Union government has abolished Sunday as a day of rest and has established the "continuous production week" by which there always will be a fraction of the nation's workmen taking a week-end holiday, while others work.

Under the new arrangement each employee will be required to work the usual number of hours, which now range from 33 to 46 a week, all, however, taking a day of rest after every five or six days of labor. Thus while one-sixth rests five-sixths, or thereabouts, will be working, carrying on the full activities of the factory or institution, a more calculated to quicken the industrial pace, increase labor productivity and relieve unemployment.

Van Kleeck Is Agent for Nash

Samuel J. Van Kleeck of the Van Kleeck Motor and Garage on North Front street, who has been local agent for Nash automobiles for several seasons, denies that he has given up the Nash agency in this city. Mr. Van Kleeck states that there is a persistent rumor about town that the Nash agency has been taken from him and will be given to another dealer. This rumor he denies and states that he is still agent for the Nash and there has been no such act contemplated either by himself or the Nash distributor for this territory.

2 Men Killed, 3 Women Burned

Jacksonville, Fla., Sept. 6 (AP).—Two men were killed and three women were burned and injured early today when their automobile ran off the Jacksonville Beach road and collided with an electric light pole. Electric transmission wires, falling from the pole, struck the five passengers, burning the women.

Colonial Homes Surely Constructed to Endure

Those who are familiar with the construction methods employed by New England coast house builders of the Colonial period are generally impressed by the foundation work. To day, after a century or more, one may find these foundations unshaken. Labor was cheap in earlier times; construction material close at hand. Perhaps such massive bases for the superstructure were needlessly extravagant, yet one must admire the honest work that has stood the tests of time.

At East Winthrop, Maine, there stands a massive Colonial dwelling, 107 years old, that has one of these typical foundations. It is formed of enormous granite slabs which are laid up three feet thick. It is tradition among descendants of the original owners that three yokes of oxen were required to haul some of these great stones to the spot.

Quite frequently one will come across one of these Colonial houses with stone chimney bases 20 feet square while on the ground floor there will be tunnels through the heart of the chimney, forming unique hallways from one part of the main floor to another. Foundations and chimneys were built to withstand the onslaughts of floods, earthquakes and centuries. Fire occasionally razes cleanly one of these Colonial dwellings, yet the hand of man is always necessary to tear apart that honest masonry.

According to the many gorgeous seed catalogues, arriving once more in the mail, the illustrator still has his dreams.

A new oxygen helmet is one of the several ways invented to escape from a submarine, other than enlisting in the infantry.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press.)

New York—Tom Webster, English cartoonist, was 20 minutes late for his wedding. The bride, Miss Mary Fynn, was a few minutes ahead of time. Mayor Walker, who performed the ceremony, also was ready at the hour set. Tom's explanation, with a look at the mayor, was: "Well, I know him, so I beat him to it."

Hollywood, Cal.—Vivian Duncan and Nils Asther of the screen are engaged again. They broke off two years ago and as soon as they worked together in another picture married things up.

New York—Helen Hayes, actress, is to be a mother. The news came when ten actors who had been signed for a show appeared to the actors' Equity Association because the show had been closed. "Surely, I broke my contract," said Miss Hayes. "I'm going to have a baby. That is much more important to me than the little role in 'Cecile'." Miss Hayes is the wife of Charles MacArthur.

Mexico City—There's a great rush in the capital to undo easy divorces granted in the states of Yucatan, Morelos and Sonora. At last count 146 petitions for nullification were on file.

New York—Philip Morehouse of Brooklyn, an Amherst classmate, is to be an usher at John Coolidge's wedding. Mrs. Morehouse is to be a bridesmaid. "Florence Trumbull is the most conservative girl I've ever known," says Mrs. Morehouse, a department store psychologist. "She's every bit as conservative as the Coolidges."

Havana—All public halls, some 50 in number, have been closed by the authorities. Women's clubs complained of them as dens of iniquity.

New York—The Stock Exchange is to have a gallery of some 75,000 photographs, pictures of every employee of its 1,875 members, from senior clerk to office boy. The gallery will be accessible to all members.

Philadelphia—The supply of sun-kissed fair Helens who play marvelous tennis seems inexhaustible. There are Helen Wills and Helen Jacobs. Now comes Helen Armstrong, also of California—Hollywood, in fact—to create a sensation in the girls' national tourney.

New York—In guessing at a person's weight consider the chest most of all. A chart prepared by Dr. Mary Louise Bollin, research worker at Columbia, rates the determining factors as follows: Shoulder width, 5 per cent; height, 16; width of hips, 29; width of chest, 23; depth of chest, 32.

LAST NIGHT on the RADIO

Although there was some static, reception was good Thursday evening on any properly adjusted set. The star performer in point of clarity and volume was WLW, a station that is often satisfactory when nearer stations fade or interfere. Another good DX station was WLS. WHAS was also good.

This morning reception from WGY was weak. One of the blackest chapters of the American Revolution, comprising the story of Benedict Arnold's ill-fated expedition through the wilds of Maine, will be told over the air Tuesday evening when the Soconyland Sketch presents a radio drama, "The Wilderness March," at 7:30 through the usual group of northeastern NBC stations. The hour of dance music by Paul Whiteman and his Old Gold Orchestra heard every Tuesday night from 9 to 10 p. m., over the entire network of the Columbia Broadcasting System, will offer as one of its outstanding numbers on September 10 a medley of Victor Herbert waltzes. There will be vocal interpolations by Jack Fulton, tenor; Bing Crosby, baritone; Mildred Bailey, the new blue singer, and the Ponce Sisters.

HOW THEY COOKED IKE BLOOM'S BIG PUMPKIN

West Shokan, Sept. 6.—There is a sequel to the story of Ike Bloom's big pumpkin, published in Monday's Freeman. It seems that Ike and Konse had gathered at the Broadhead store, presumably awaiting the morning mail, when Ike took occasion to spin his pumpkin yarn. After Ike had finished his tale Konse started reminiscing about some of his experiences in the West and told how he had assisted in the building of an immense iron vat, or kettle—so large around that the riveters on opposite sides could scarcely hear each other at work.

Ike was used to big stories, but this one had him really interested and as soon as he could get a word in he asked, "What in Heaven's name could they use a kettle of that size for?" "Why, to cook that ding busted pumpkin of yours in," was the quick reply. It is said that Ike immediately hiked for home without further comment.

WEST SHOKAN.

West Shokan, Sept. 6.—The withering effects of the drought are seen on every hand. Leaves are falling and the mountains present the appearance of having been in contact with hot blasts from a furnace. The water situation is daily assuming more alarming proportions, as the flow of the springs and few remaining wells become lower and lower. Few summer visitors remain. The majority returned home Tuesday, right in the midst of this stifling spell of heat.

Donald Stryker, who is regaining his health in the invigorating zone of the Bushkill country, had a severe shock recently. He and his friend, Don Bishop, were salvaging the trout from the drying Wittenberg stream to Lambert's pond when an immense watersnake thrust its wriggling form betwixt his legs as he was bending over with an arm extended full length under a flat rock. With a cry of horror, his face ashen, he is reported to have made fast time covering the distance to the safe confines of the Lambert porch.

The Montclair, N. J., baseball team, with friends, will arrive Sunday morning for a day's outing by bus on a sight-seeing trip around the Ashokan reservoir. Before returning they will stage an exhibition game with the snappy Olive Bridge team. This should be an exciting contest as the local boys are in fine fettle and just "a rarin' to go."

BAD HABITS ARE CAUSE OF WASTE

Careless Drivers Pay No Attention to Warnings of Coming Trouble

Bad driving habits and improper care of the car are usually responsible for abnormal consumption of gasoline, according to Frank N. Nutt, research engineer, who cites the causes of these faults.

Letting the engine run at high speed while idling in traffic. Many drivers have this bad habit.

Poor Acceleration.

Uneven acceleration, that is, stepping on the accelerator unsteadily.

Racing the engine in spurts when waiting for the traffic "go" signal.

Driving with fouled spark plugs. This wastes about 20 to 25 per cent of the gasoline used for every plug that is out of commission.

Dashing up to a stop street and then jamming on the brakes. Also this is hard on a car and is a dangerous practice.

Wear Out Brake Linings.

Dragging brakes waste gasoline and wear out brake linings.

Driving too long in first and in second gear before shifting to high.

Careless drivers frequently pay no attention to simple warnings of coming trouble in their car, Mr. Nutt added. What would usually amount to a minor repair if attended to at once often is permitted to grow into a large one. This is why the periodical car inspection and overhauling is necessary to keep cars in the best operating conditions.

Tired Feeling Follows Long Automobile Drive

After driving a car 250 miles or more in a day, that tired feeling does not come from a very marked muscular fatigue but is rather the result of nerve fatigue, reports the touring bureau of the Chicago Motor club.

The statement is based on the results of tests recently made upon ten persons who had driven 250 miles. The tests comprised determination of the carbon dioxide combining power of the blood, inasmuch as the presence of carbonic acid in the system is a leading product of fatigue, and a blood count. The latter was taken to determine the number of white cells in the blood. The white corpuscles multiply when poison contaminates the system, and are extremely active in eliminating it.

The tests revealed an average decrease in carbon dioxide combining power of 15 per cent, and a 25 per cent increase in average white-cell count. These results clearly indicate nerve fatigue, rather than muscular exhaustion.

A large part of this exhaustion can be averted, the touring bureau declared, by starting the tour in good physical condition.

Storage Battery Failure Renders Engine Useless

The failure of the storage battery means the failure of the entire car and its neglect will render the engine as useless as if the "gas" tank were empty. Keep the battery within its maximum charge, at all times, and never permit it to stand in a discharged state. Do not charge or discharge the battery too quickly. Care must be taken to keep the top clean and before filling it with distilled water, wipe the surface well before unscrewing the filler caps. It is a good plan to rub the lead terminals with a rag on which is some vaseline, as this will protect them from being corroded by any acid which might be spilled. To keep the plates covered with water is most important.

THE MOTOR QUIZ
(How Many Can You Answer?)

Q.—Why should a car never be parked with bright headlights turned on?

Ans.—It drains the battery and is a source of annoyance to other drivers.

Q.—What are the causes of uneven tire wear?

Ans.—Bent axle, bent steering knuckle, broken spring, bent spindle, dragging brake, loose wheel.

Q.—What is the inevitable result of the use of the wrong grade of oil?

Ans.—Loose bearings and loss of power.

Q.—What is the cause of spark plug fouling and how does it evidence itself?

Ans.—Using a plug of incorrect size, length or design; engine operating at very low temperature; carburetor mixture too rich; long runs with carburetor choked or partly choked; oil pumping; continual short distance driving in cold weather. Fouling evidences itself by causing the engine to miss and loss of power, especially on hills.

Locking Gasoline Tank Excellent Safety Plan

Gasoline thieves will be foiled by the fuel tank cap lock shown in the illustration. This is an ordinary small cabinet door lock which should be riveted, or screwed and riveted, to the underside of the tank cap. Make sure that the lock does not project far

LATEST IMPROVEMENT IN SPARK PLUGS

Spark Plug Electrodes First Made Squared Tips and Later Were Rounded.

New Bevelled Tip Gives Larger Spark, More Power and Greater Fuel Economy.

If you examine the lower end of the latest spark plugs on the market, you will notice that the center electrode is now bevelled at the point instead of being cut off square or with a round tip, as in the past. The change, slight as it appears to be, is proving a highly valuable contribution to motor efficiency and economy.

There have been three successive shapes of electrode ends, since the early days of automotive history. At first, both center and ground electrode wires were cut off square. With this shape, the spark passing across the gap between the two ends was small, since the volume of current was concentrated to the point where the edge of the center electrode directly opposed the ground electrode. In order to make this opposing surface broader and compel more current to leap the gap in the form of a spark, engineers next rounded off both electrode ends. But while this enlarged the opposing areas and resulted in temporarily increased efficiency it was found in practice that the surfaces were subject to corrosion, with a resulting tendency for the gap to widen and the spark to become diffused and weak and not perform its whole duty.

Beveling the central electrode and lessens the tendency to corrosion, assures a more permanent gap width, gives greater spark intensity and strength, yields more power and smoother engine performance and results in important economy through reduction in fuel waste.

Shokan, Sept. 6.—Among the many friends who spent the holidays visiting Mrs. Fuller, of Mountain Laurel Lodge, were Miss Margaret Cole, chief telephone operator for the Studebaker Corporation of New York; C. G. Fuller and daughter, Mrs. W. J. Mulligan, also of New York city; Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Pres-

Ho. Mr. and Mrs. F. Wilston and Miss Esther Wagner, all of Rochester, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Hodges and daughter, Irma, of New York city, have returned from Stamford, where they visited friends over Labor Day. They will be the guests of Mrs. Fuller, of Mountain Laurel Lodge, until the close of the hunting season.

Were Beggars And Choosers

Shanghai, China, Sept. 6 (P).—The old fable about beggars not being choosers went by the board recently when a mob of half-starved Chinese soldiers crowded the decks of the Kiangteh, a Yangtze river steamer, invaded the cook's galley, ate everything in sight and then threw the cook overboard because the "chow" hadn't suited them.

This was only one of the many similar incidents that have occurred on the Yangtze in recent months. A week seldom passes but what the disbanded and starving soldiers of either the government or some rebel general force their way aboard a river steamer, manhandle the passengers and devour all the food they can lay their hands on.

The Kiangteh, latest victim of such an episode, was owned and operated by Chinese. It was boarded at Nanking on its way to Hankow by 100 disbanded soldiers. They refused to pay for their passage and demanded food.

They made a rush for the galley, gobbled up all that the cook set out in front for them and then said the food was not good enough. As balm for their wounded dignities and damaged stomachs they said payment of $500 would be "just about right."

Their demands for money were laughed at and the cook was thrown overboard. The chief officer attempted to throw over a line but the soldiers held him.

After watching the cook drown, the soldiers gave the chief officer a severe thrashing for daring to delay the ship. They also beat the captain because he sounded the whistle. On arrival at Kiangteh the soldiers quit the boat.

Can Freeze Fire

Carbon dioxide, which is expelled from your body whenever you exhale, has been put to use by the Los Angeles fire department to put out fires in which streams of water are of little use, as in chemical and oil fires. The gas is carried in high pressure cylinders and when released a cloud of dry ice like that used in certain kinds of refrigeration is squirted over the fire. This reduces the temperature and prevents oxygen from reaching the blaze, thus smothering it.

Fruit Fly Battle Is Advanced To Native Mediterranean Area

Washington (P).—Warring hosts against the Mediterranean fruit fly are advancing to attack the enemy on its own territory—countries bordering the Mediterranean sea.

The motor yacht Uowanna has left with Allison V. Armour, wealthy New York patron of science and collaborator of the department of agriculture, and Prof. H. J. Quayle, University of California entomologist as leaders in the attack.

The boat, affording rapid movement, is equipped on board for scientific study of collected material. A brief survey of the fruit fly situation will be made in the Bermudas and the Azores, with the main work to be carried on in the important citrus area on the Mediterranean coast.

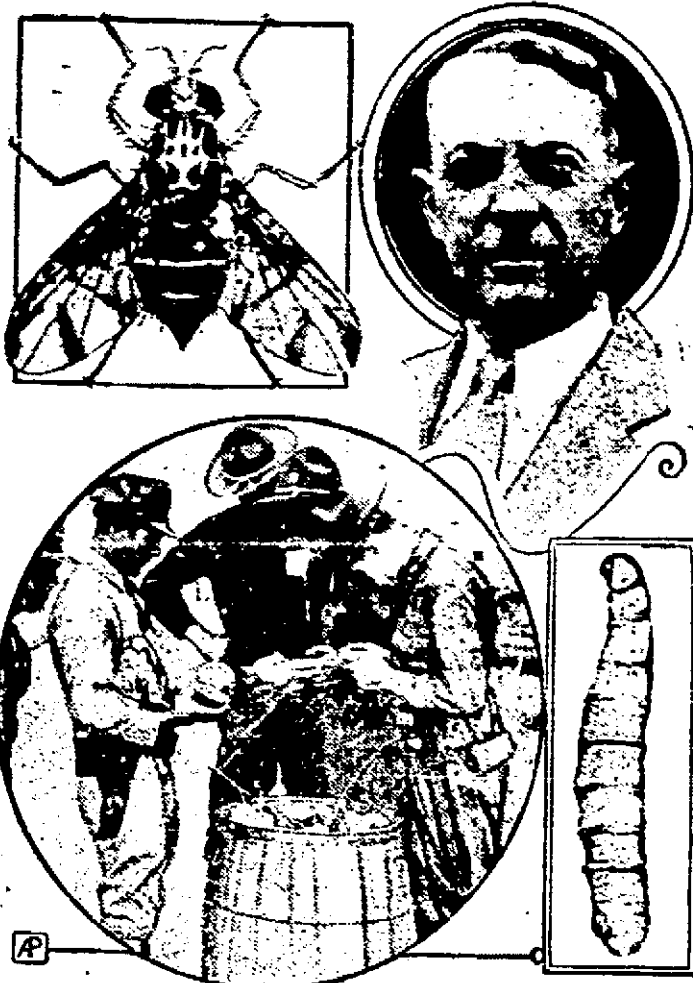

The brunt of the attack will be carried by Valencia, Spain, after which other Mediterranean areas will be taken up in succession with stops at important points.

Study is expected to occupy the remainder of 1929, and during the winter months Professor Quayle may carry the work to South Africa to cover fruit fly economics and behavior during the fruit harvesting months of January, February and March.

The expenses of the survey, while made under the auspices of the department of agriculture, will be defrayed by Armour, who has cooperated before in making available the vessel he has equipped for biological or other scientific and technical survey work.

From the survey it is expected information will be gained as to the behavior of the insect under the climatic and other controlling factors of the Mediterranean area and the measures used there to forestall crop losses.

Professor Quayle will be the agent for the department, university authorities having extended his approaching sabbatical leave to start the work immediately.

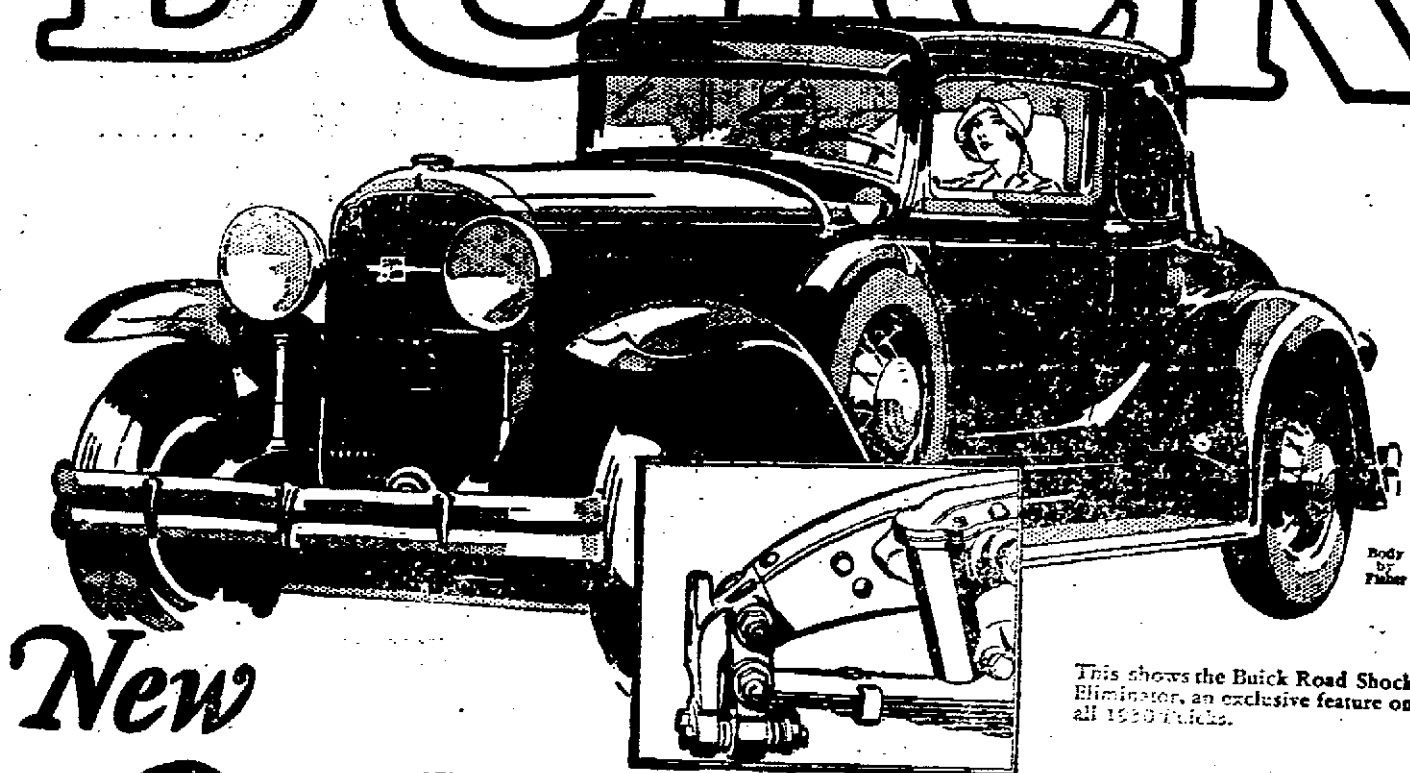

Prof. H. J. Quayle (upper right) will lead an attack on the Mediterranean fruit fly in its native regions. An indication of the strict quarantine imposed on Florida fruit this spring is shown below, with national guardsmen examining fruit. The larva stage of the pest is shown at lower right.

He was drafted recently by the secretary of agriculture to be one of a special committee to make a study of the fruit fly situation in Florida. He has made personal studies of the fly in different parts of the world, including an extended survey in the Mediterranean region many years ago.

THE New BUICK

New Road shock Eliminator . . and New Steering Gear

make Buick the easiest car in the world to drive!

The road shock eliminator—built into the front of the frame on the steering gear side—absorbs every jolt and jar arising from road inequalities, and thus prevents their transmission to the steering wheel and the driver's hands.

Imagine being able to travel the roughest road with your hands resting lightly on the wheel! Think of having an automobile which you can drive all day at any speed without feeling a single road jolt transmitted through the steering wheel!

Such are the fine results of two matchless new quality features in the 1930 Buick—two features which add to this car's appeal as the greatest dollar value of the day: a wonderful new frictionless steering gear, and the new Buick road shock eliminator!

The new Buick steering gear, of the effective worm-and-roller type, moves with incomparable ease throughout its entire turning range, assuring instant, effortless response to the driver's every wish.

Come drive this new Buick. Head for the sort of road you ordinarily avoid as too rough for comfortable travel. Test these twin features of comfort which make the new Buick the easiest steering automobile in its field!

Cashin Spoke at Republican Club

Attorney John M. Cashin of New York was speaker at meeting held Thursday evening—City Clerk Moore pleasantly surprised.

Attorney John M. Cashin of New York city gave an interesting talk at the meeting of the Republican Club Thursday evening on subjects of the prohibition question as he had found them. The next meeting of the club will be held on Thursday evening, October 2.

The first meeting after the summer vacation was largely attended, and a smoker was enjoyed. During the evening refreshments were served.

Thursday was the birthday of City Clerk George W. Moore, an active member of the club since its organization, and that fact became known to a number of his fellow workers at the city hall, and they prepared a pleasant surprise for Mr. Moore, who was present at the club meeting.

The city clerk during a lull in the proceedings was called to the front by Judge Stufeldt, president of the club, and was presented with a slight token of esteem in memory of his birthday. The gift came as a surprise to Mr. Moore.

The social committee of the club is hard at work preparing for the meetings to be held during the fall and winter, and plans are also being made to carry on an active campaign this fall for the entire Republican ticket.

Have You An Acid Stomach?

When gas, pain and distress follow a good meal, it is an almost sure sign of "too much acid" in your stomach. Get rid of it now for it is dangerous. Ulcers are apt to follow. No matter how much acid is in your stomach, you can enjoy and relish your next meal without fear of after-effects, if you have some Bismarck Magnesia handy to prevent the trouble before it starts. Try it. Eat whatever you like, in reason, and then take a little Bismarck Magnesia to neutralize the acid, sweeten your stomach and protect the stomach lining. Doctors recommend Bismarck Magnesia—thousands use it because it positively prevents stomach trouble or stops the worst attack in less than five minutes. Get a trial package, either powder or tablets, from your druggist, use as directed, and indigestion and stomach troubles will go like magic.

OLD APPLE TREES

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

OLD apple trees grow tired of bearing.

Young apple trees are always wearing blossoms in spring, and fruit in fall. Old apple trees grow tired of all the plucking, plucking, and not caring.

I wish that some old apple tree, Some harvest season, this could see: Some mortal kneeling on the sod, Thanking the tree, and thanking God, For all the apples that there be.

Old apple trees grown tired of bearing.

Old horses weary of the wearing Of ancient harness; even men Weary a little now and then Of all the taking and not caring.

I wish some night that some old sire, Would find youth grateful for the fire, The table, and the roof, and all, Perhaps old trees less soon would fall, Perhaps old hearts less soon would tire.

THE WHY OF SUPERSTITIONS

By H. IRVING KING

CROWS BIRDS OF ILL OMEN

THE raven and the crow are so nearly related that they are frequently called by the same name and for all superstitious purposes are one bird. In all parts of the world, from time immemorial, the crow—or raven—has been regarded with a superstitious dread. The Australian aborigine, the American Indian, the German peasant, the farmer of old England and of New England, hear in his ravenous voice a warning of death or misfortune.

This universal superstition with regard to the crow can evidently have its origin in no mythological association. The various and widely separated races which entertain it prove that it springs entirely from the physical characteristics of the bird—its black gloomy color and its harsh and threatening voice—characteristics naturally calculated to inspire the primitive mind with a sense of foreboding. Added to this is the crow's character as a crop destroyer and his general actions as if he were an enemy of man.

The superstition is merely one arising from an association of ideas with facts apparently symbolic of those ideas, a process natural to the primitive mind now and always. It is true that in Norse mythology the raven was the attendant bird of Odin and ravens flew screaming before him when the god went forth to war. But the assignment to this position was entirely on account of those characteristics which in lands that never knew Odin made the crow a harbinger of evil to the superstitious.

Dear Editor:

I READ a book review by Sinclair Lewis and it didn't have a single word of criticism or bitterness in it. Must be a fake. That's like those gracefully phrased testimonials that "movie" stars sign with an illiterate hand—too good to be true.

Well, we're starting out on a trip. I'll tell you about it from day to day. There goes Beauville's poor house, palatial but set so far out in the country that six steady boarders refuse to stay. They actually got jobs and moved back to town. I'll bet the country felt bad about that.

Sons of Veterans Ball a Success

The Testimonial Ball held under the auspices of Tappan Camp, No. 1, Sons of Veterans, in Pythian Hall Wednesday evening was a decided success in spite of the hot weather. There were several commands of the G. A. R. with their families present and they with the camp extend a hearty vote of appreciation to the citizens of Kingston, who acted as patrons and patronesses.

Tappan Camp, a body of sons and grandsons of veterans of the war of 1861-65, incorporated in 1892 as a patriotic organization to assist the G. A. R. to carry on the work of Memorial Day and other occasions held sacred to these aging warriors. Their object is to perpetuate the memory, services and sacrifices of their ancestors for the maintenance of the Union; to support constitutional union, teach patriotism, citizenship, true history and love for our flag.

All sons and grandsons of Civil War veterans are most cordially invited to join.

JOURNALISTS WILL BE TRAINED WHILE YOU WAIT

In connection with the work of the Farm and Home Bureau, Prof. Brislaw Adams of Cornell is conducting a series of one day schools in various parts of the state in an effort to fit local correspondents for the task of writing news of these organizations for the local newspapers. Professor Adams was a journalist of experience and renown before he became a professor and is probably as well qualified as anyone to impart the art in one day to a large class of aspirants.

The school for Ulster county will be held in the court house on October 8, beginning at 10:30 a. m., taking a recess at noon for luncheon at the Advance restaurant and reconvening in the afternoon when the pupils will be given opportunity to practice the writing of news items, which will be read and criticized by the faculty. Intervening between the luncheon and the afternoon session there will be addresses by the eloquent and erudite editors of the various Ulster county newspapers, all of whom are invited to attend the school. All correspondents of local newspapers are also invited, without further ceremony, to come and partake freely at the fountain of oral wisdom. They will, of course, pay for their luncheons in the usual "long green."

A tremendous and revolutionary improvement in all of the newspapers is confidently expected to follow the holding of this school, for, as everyone knows, it is very easy to train anyone, in a whole day, to become a competent journalist. Anyway, it is believed that no harm will be done to many of the aspirants who cannot be much worse.

Fatal Airplane Crash at Memphis

Memphis, Sept. 6 (AP)—Miss Ruth Greet, 26, Woodward, Okla., and Ernest Douglas, 17, were killed instantly and Frank Hays, aviator, was believed fatally injured in the crash of Hays' airplane here today.

Miss Greet was en route to Birmingham where she is a student at Birmingham Southern College. She stopped here for a few days with the Douglas family, and decided to fly over Memphis as an outing.

Something went wrong with Hays' plane over Parkfield, at Millington, Memphis suburb, and it dived. Miss Greet and Douglas were dead when taken from the wreckage. Hospital attaches said Hays' chances of recovery were slim.

There are a number of open positions on the varsity, but Coach Kias feels that he will have no trouble in filling them.

Captain John Mohr, the star center on the first team for the last three seasons, looks forward to a big season and the DUSO League pennant. There are a number of veterans back both in the line and the backfield. Jones, Thompson, and Clarke are the vets on the line while Watts and Minasian are the experienced men in the backfield.

Herb Clarke, who played left guard since his first year in high school, will be shifted into tackle on the left side of the line in "Phil" McDonald's place, who has now gone to Holy Cross College and has made good at the gridiron sport. Jones will probably be on left and although there is a possibility of him going in the backfield, Minasian at left half and Watts at fullback will be the mainstays behind the line.

Six games have been booked but two more is necessary in order to complete the schedule. They are as follows: September 28, open. October 5, Spring Valley at Spring Valley. October 12, open. October 19, Middletown at Kingston. October 26, Port Jervis at Port Jervis. November 2, Peekskill at Peekskill. November 9, Newburgh at Kingston. November 16, Poughkeepsie at Poughkeepsie.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Sept. 6 (AP)—The stock market quickly recovered today from the scare which sent prices tumbling in the last hour of yesterday's session, bounding upward in impressive fashion under the leadership of the public utility issues.

Some uneasiness was apparent at the opening but the resumption of large-sale buying by pools restored speculative confidence and by early afternoon nearly all of the leading groups presented several outstanding strong points.

Opening strength and activity of the market leaders was interpreted as an indication that stocks had passed from weak to strong hands in yesterday's break. Very little distress selling came into the market and traders who sold short on the break were forced to cover at higher prices.

Operators for the advance apparently were not disturbed by the prediction of a well known statistician that a drop in prices rivaling the Florida land boom collapse was coming. This caused the market of balance yesterday and was generally held responsible for the late reaction.

While it was generally agreed that the market had reached a top-heavy speculative position yesterday, speculative opinion was still widely divided as to whether the weakened position had been sufficiently corrected.

Conservative commission houses again urged their clients to keep their accounts in a liquid condition. Others suggested a limitation of current activities to a few of the recent leaders in which special developments are believed pending.

Call money dropped from 5 to 3 percent, the first change in about a week, but time money rates held firm with business quiet. The acceptance market was more active.

Publication of the terms of the government's September financing, with a coupon rate one-fourth of one percent below the previous issue, was widely accepted as an indication that no credit stringency is likely, although fears are still entertained for a temporary mid-month pinch.

Standard Gas and Electric and American Water Works shared the leadership of the Public Utility group each soaring about 11 points to new high records at 182 and 184 1/2, respectively.

American and Foreign Power ran up 10 1/2 points and Public Service of New Jersey, Consolidated Gas and International Telephone sold 5 to 6 points higher.

Fast Fight Card Scheduled Tonight At Fair Grounds

Weather permitting, Kingston fight fans will be able to watch boxers throw gloves at each other's faces for seven bouts tonight at the Kingston Fair Grounds when matchmaker Jess McMahon displays a card of 24 rounds of fighting, if the fighters go the limit.

Headlining the evening's program is a 15 round clash between Black Bill, a Cuban who it is said never studied Shakespeare but is content to mix, and Roubert Parra of Chile, who never did like draws, but is promising a victory this evening to erase a draw recorded against him several weeks ago in a clash with the Cuban at Jersey City. Both fighters have been in this country several years and have been standing on the floor looking down over attempts of lesser lights who refused to be convinced without a struggle. Black Bill's wins include mixes with Robby Huttenberg, Wee Willie Woods, Corporal Izzy Schwartz, Scotty McKean, Battling Murray, Johnny Russo, Marty Gold, Eddie Zeigler, Phil Tobias and others. Roubert Parra's victories number Joe Ferrantino, Danny Lewis, Tommy Salen, Pete Buckley, Mickey McGarr, Marty Gold, Matty White and others.

The semi-final between Eddie Frisco of Newburgh and Frankie Goosby of California promises to be one of the most important of the card. Goosby displayed his wares against Charley McKala a few weeks ago much to the latter's chagrin. Frisco says he never had any use for chagrins and doesn't intend to begin tonight.

Aukie Baglio of Brooklyn and Vic Morosco of New York will don the leather mittens for six rounds as will Al Fender and Tony Abrudina. The card includes one other six-round clash.

Tonight's mixup is carded to begin at the usual hour, 8:30 o'clock.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

(By The Associated Press.)
Milwaukee—Louis New, Milwaukee, and Fred Tompkins, Milwaukee, drew (8). Paul Pantaleo, Chicago, knocked out George Myske, Holland, Mich. (1).
Davenport, Iowa—Cowboy Art Dula, Oklahoma City, outpointed Billy Brent, Baltimore (10).

NO FRENCH PLAYERS IN NATIONAL TENNIS.

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 6 (AP).—For the first time since 1925, the national tennis singles championship of the United States will go to other than a Frenchman. Not because France's grip on world tennis honors has started to weaken but because not one of the tennis stars from the land of tri-color has seen fit to enter the 1929 championship.

With the French "big three"—LaCoste, Borotra and Cochet—out of the picture, prospects are bright for William T. Tilden, 2nd, of Philadelphia, to capture the title for the seventh time. Big Bill had a monopoly on the title from 1920 to 1925, inclusive, but LaCoste was the winner in 1926 and 1927 and Cochet kept the title in France's possession last year by defeating Frank Hunter in the final round.

Tilden, seeded first in the tournament, will have no easy path to his seventh national title, but on form should dispose of the younger stars that block his way. In his half of the draw are H. W. Austin of England; Berkeley Bell of Austin, Texas; John Van Ryn of East Orange, N. J.; Tamio Abe of Japan; German Uppmann, Cuba; and John Doege, Santa Monica, all seeded players.

George Lott heads the list in the lower half. The other seeded players in his bracket are E. R. Avery and J. S. Oliff of England; N. G. Farquharson of South Africa; Gregory S. Mangin of Newark; Fritz Mercier of Bethlehem, Pa., and Frank Hunter.

With a field of 90 seeking the title, play in the championship will start tomorrow on the West Side Tennis Club's famous courts. The finals will be played a week from Saturday.

YOST DEFINITELY OUT OF GRIDIRON PICTURE.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 6 (AP).—Fielding H. "Hurricane" Yost, guiding genius of University of Michigan football teams for more than a quarter of a century, is definitely out of the Wolverine gridiron picture this season.

The "Grand Old Man" of Michigan has stepped aside to make room for the younger coaching order and henceforth will act solely as an interested spectator unless his advice is sought. Harry Kipke, his former pupil, is the coach.

Whether he was forced to step out or did so to preclude such embarrassing incidents as came up between him and Coach Tad Wieman last fall is a matter of dispute on the Michigan campus.

All Entries Pass Trials.

Calshot, Eng., Sept. 6 (AP).—All the entries for the Blue-Ribbon Schneider Cup Air Race successfully passed their navigability trials in the recent before noon today. The British and the Italian pilots thereupon moored their machines for a six-hour sea-worthiness test. Three British and three Italian pilots qualified in the first part of "seaworthiness and water tightness tests" which precede the actual races tomorrow.

There are 36 communities beside Chicago in Cook county; one of them, Oak Park, with 250,000 population, and another, Cicero, over 150,000.

Sport Slants

By Alan J. Gould,
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

There is a good chance early next month that the Cubs not only will regain a chunk of world's championship prestige for Chicago but also restore some of the self-respect of the National League at large.

The last world's series in which a Chicago team competed, the Sox of 1919, left no gratifying memories whatever. The last two series, in each of which the Yankees steam-rolled their opposition for four straight, embarrassed the National League no little.

The enthusiasm, therefore, over the chances of the Cubs "taking" the Athletics may be easily appreciated. There is the feeling that for the first time in three years the National League will be represented by its strongest team, in good health, confidence and spirits. The Pirates of 1927 and the Cardinals of 1925 were kingly after winning unusually close pennant battles. It took only a few solid wallopings from Yankee bats to put them down and out.

This year, the Cubs piled up a big lead in mid-season, with the pennant race virtually over by the first of September. It is something new for any team to dominate the National League scramble. This is alone sufficient to strengthen support for Joe McCarthy's outfit, formidably equipped as it is with heavy hitters and a fine corps of pitchers.

In the face of such rivalry, it would be the height of optimism to expect Connie Mack's Athletics to continue the rough-shod pace of the Yankees. For one thing the Yankees were and still are as great a "money team" as baseball has known in many moons. The A's are now a better ball club but they are less experienced in the big show than Ruth & Company. The A's, in fact, are less seasoned than the Cubs, so far as world's series experience goes.

For Hornsby, Cuyler and Wilson all have figured in championship conflict. Hornsby managed the last club to beat the Yankees in the world's series while Cuyler's winning hit off Walter Johnson in 1925 made him the hero of the Pirate conquest that year. The only Mackman with any real series experience is Eddie Collins but Eddie is no longer an active combatant. Old Jack Quinn pitched four innings for the Yankees in the 1921 series.

The A's and Cubs both have plenty of heavy artillery. Sluggers like Fox, Cochrane, Simmons, Hornsby, Wilson, Stephenson and Cuyler will rattle the boards in any park on the slightest provocation. Behind the bat Cochrane should give the A's an edge. On the other hand, the two southpaw stars of the Mack moundsmen, Grove and Walberg, face a touch line-up of right-handed clouters.

This is only the start of an argument that will be tossed back and forth during the next two weeks. It will be just as warm a debate at any cross-roads as on Michigan Boulevard or Broad street.

MANDELL WILL FIGHT VICENTINI TONIGHT

Chicago, Sept. 6 (AP).—Lightweight Champion Sammy Mandell tonight will attempt to disprove theories that he is slipping by matching his ring science against Luis Vicentini, rugged right hand clouter from Chile, in a 10-round battle in Paddy Harmon's Chicago Stadium punch bowl.

Sammy's title will not be at stake, but if the Chilean can make it interesting he doubtless will have to give him a crack at the crown to satisfy boxing fans and the new Illinois State Athletic Commission.

BUSH AND HOWLEY SILENT AFTER CONFERENCE

Chicago, Sept. 6 (AP).—Donie Bush, deposed manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, and Dan Howley, pilot of the St. Louis Browns, went into a huddle here yesterday, but declined to tell what they talked about.

All Howley, a close friend of Bush's, cared to say was that his friend was tired and needed a rest. Neither would discuss reports they were planning to purchase the Indianapolis club baseball franchise in the American Association.

Player Who Ran Wrong Way Set For Comeback on Coast

Roy Riegels, California center, did more in one minute to upset his own team than its opponent, Georgia Tech, did in an entire game. Roy toted the ball 75 yards the wrong way in the New Year's Day classic. Now California counts on him as one of its greatest prospects for 1930—and certainly as an outstanding attraction.

Berkley, Cal., (AP).—With one great cyclonic cry the 75,000 spectators at the Georgia Tech-California game yelled "He's crazy," he's running the wrong way" when Roy Riegels ran 75 yards to within one foot of his own goal line.

Riegels, center and captain-elect of the California team, who contributed the colossal blunder that defeated his team and assured him a permanent place among the "goats" of sport, is hard at work now to prove just how smart one can be and still be "crazy."

Pennsylvania to Be Strengthened Old Guard In Semi-Finals

Philadelphia, Sept. 6 (AP).—Pennsylvania will have something a bit out of the ordinary to offer California when the Golden Bears of the west come east this fall to battle the Quakers in one of the biggest sectional duels of the year on Franklin Field.

For several years now, curly-headed Lou Young, crafty head coach of Penn's uniformly fine eleven, has gone farther than any other football leader in the east in the development of deception in his running attack. He made a powerful weapon of the hidden ball plays that developed considerable controversy two years ago and befuddled the defenses of a dozen universities as his backs scurried about the playing field with the ball lost from sight.

Now Lou is going in for more strength along with his deception and a wider variety of plays and offensive weapons. And the strangest part of it all is that Penn is looking upon one of California's neighbors on the coast, the powerful Stanford array, for the model of attack Young believes best suited to dispose of California along with all other rivals in the intercollegiate pigskin wars of the fall.

"The time has come," Lou says, "to couple strength and deception in the foundation of Penn's attack. Last year my running attack was top heavy. This year I'm taking the Stanford offense as a model of variety, power, speed and deception."

"We have ten men this season, we're going in for wider use of the lateral pass but with more diversity than Harvard uses. We'll have some great backs this fall, with Walter Pappan, a short chunky fellow, filling the place of the great Paul Scull. Oklahoma has everything. Another exception—flow is Dick Gentle."

"Penn has lost a few men, Scull, Johnny Shober and Paul Murphy are gone from the backfield. The replacements are fine but not quite as large as I'd use them. The absence of John Smith, the big tackle, and Leon Westgate, a fine center, shouldn't cause too much trouble in the line."

"Center is our big worry. An erratic pivot man can demoralize a set of good backs, mess up plays, and throw the entire attack out of gear by shooting the ball into the faces and chests of the runners instead of to their knees. We'll have to develop a center."

PREFERS TENNIS CROWN TO MOVIE PICTURE STAR.

Philadelphia, Sept. 6 (AP).—Heien Mariowe, California's lone hope in the girl's national tennis championships at the Philadelphia Cricket Club, would rather capture the racquet crown than be a moving picture star.

Before her graduation last June from the Hollywood High School, Heien had appeared in the movies as an extra a number of times and also had taken a minor part in a talkie.

Today she had fought her way to the final round of the National Tennis Tournament and will meet the defending champion, Sarah Palfrey, 16-year-old Boston girl, tomorrow for the title. Miss Palfrey reached the final bracket by defeating Evelyn Parsons, Palo Alto, Cal., 6-2, 6-3, while Miss Mariowe advanced by disposing of Maiane Palfrey, sister of Sarah, 6-1, 6-4.

"It's fascinating working in the movies, and a pleasant change from continuous tennis," Miss Mariowe said. "But I crave action and love tennis best."

Nibs Price, coach of the Golden Bears, counts on Riegels as the big man on his 1929 team.

"If it were anyone else but Riegels," said Price, "I might be doubtful about the rest of his career."

"But Roy has the real stuff in him! He has adopted the right attitude and will be better than ever this year."

"It takes courage to come back after a 'break' like that and Roy has plenty of it."

Old Guard In Semi-Finals

Pebble Beach, Cal., Sept. 6 (AP).—Youth has had its fling in the National Amateur Golf Championship of 1929. The battle of Pebble Beach in its semi-final stage today brought together four of the most seasoned of American campaigners. And it was still a wide open fight among them for the crown that a youthful spurge knocked from the sandy head of Bobby Jones.

After brilliant third round triumphs, this quartet of the old guard stepped out this morning, with Dr. Oscar F. Willing, the Portland, Ore., dentist, meeting a fellow Oregonian, Henry Chandler Egan, champion in 1904 and 1905, in the first 36-hole match and Harrison R. (Jimmy) Johnston of St. Paul, veteran tournament figure of a decade, opposed to Francis Ouimet of Boston, amateur champion in 1913, and open champion in 1923.

The thatches of all four have thinned or greyed, with the exception of Johnston, whose youthful appearance belies the fact that he is well over 30 and a match player of long experience. Egan, titleholder 25 years ago when a student at Harvard, is back in the limelight—at the age of 45, a semi-finalist for the first time since 1913. Willing, nearly bald and 40, has campaigned at home and abroad with distinction. Ouimet, long one of the games foremost figures, is around 35.

Youth, in the person of Johnny Goodman of Omaha, took the scalp of ex-champion Jones. In William Lawson Little, Jr., it cut a swath through the tourney that was checked only by the great finish of Ouimet. Today, however, there were four semi-finalists averaging close to 40 years of age to demonstrate that experience still cuts a substantial figure.

Rondouts to Play McKinleys

The Rondouts have booked the McKinleys for another game Sunday. The Newburgh team gave them a bad beating last Sunday, the worst defeat they have suffered. The home boys figure that was just a case of "off day" and are all keyed up to more than make things even in the coming game and demonstrate to the fans that they are just as good now as they have been in the past.

The Rondout team has taken over the best clubs in the Hudson river valley and vicinity this year, winning 24 out of 33 games played. Of these games 18 were played away from home.

Joe Coughlin and Peters have been the mainstay of the Rondouts in the box and have proved that they are capable of holding their own with the best of opposing batsmen, although they surely had off days on Sunday and Monday. Peters held the McKinleys to five hits in Newburgh July 22 and two weeks ago at Block Park Coughlin held Newburgh down to six hits.

The McKinleys will use their ace, Moore, in the box Sunday. Peters will do the honors for Rondout.

Operate on Helen Will.

Oakland, Cal., Sept. 6 (AP).—Heien Mariowe, international tennis champion, who is suffering from acute tonsillitis, was to undergo a minor throat operation today. Miss Will's indisposition has caused the cancellation of her match with Miss Betty Nuthall, 18-year-old British girl in Berkeley on September 15, her father, Dr. C. A. Will, said.

Racial Blending Lifts Fields

JACKIE FIELDS, or to give him his proper name, Jacob Finkelstein, the new welterweight champion, is a Jewish boy with an Irishman for his manager and his discoverer is an Italian by the name of Carlos Martin, who runs the Main street gymnasium in Los Angeles.

This rare blending of nationalities has produced a close corporation which has functioned smoothly for the past five years, or since Jackie returned from the Olympic games and decided to cast his lot among the pros of the boxing game.

As Gig tells the story, he teamed up with Carlos Martin a decade ago and as promising bouts showed in the gymnasium, Carlos would call his friend aside and tip him off. Came the day when two slightly built youngsters visited the gym for a workout. The speed of the boys impressed Martin. Rooney was apprised of the fact and before long Jackie's and Fiedel La Barria's names began to appear on amateur boxing programs.

La Barria teamed up with George Blake, the noted referee and boxing instructor at the Olympic club, while Fields hooked up with Rooney and has been with him ever since.

Rooney has been with Fields in every contest the latter has fought, with the exception of the Jimmy McLarnin fight, and, strange to say, Jackie was knocked out in that one. Jackie will get his chance at McLarnin soon and if Floyd Fitzsimmons, the Detroit promoter, pays out the sum Rooney asks, the match will be on.

For the past five years the racial mixture as a team has worked harmoniously and if one is to judge from the manner in which Jackie listens to "Pop," as he calls Rooney, the combination will stick together until the champion retires from boxing. That's an example of the good fellowship that one discovers occasionally in this great racket of boxing.

BASEBALL NOTES

Maranville turns many a dull day into a big laugh.

New York Yankees will have paid Babe Ruth $470,000 during his eight years, which end this fall.

Low Fonseca, kicked around by several clubs, is supplying the big punch in the Cleveland batting attack.

The Portland club of the Pacific Coast league has released Bob Tibbatts, infielder, to the Topeka club.

Every time Lefty Grove throws one of his fast balls at a batter he should toss along an antidote for dizziness.

Third Baseman Ferguson, with Denver (Western) last season, recently was signed by Topeka, same league.

Al Linaux, former big leaguer, now with the Buffalo Internationals, won 13 games during the first half of the season.

The New York National league club has purchased Pitcher Edward Lucas from Toledo, of the American association.

Cy Perkins, of the Athletics, is thirty-two years old. He has been with the A's as a catcher for the last 11 years.

The Brooklyn National league club has purchased Bob Parham, Atlanta outfielder. He formerly starred for Georgia Tech.

Fred Haney is leading the Pacific Coast league in stolen bases. He had the race all to himself in the American association last year.

Not knowing how well he throws, we have decided to play the newly imported gorilla, with the 12-foot reach, at first base instead of shortstop.

The Blue Ridge league and the Middle Atlantic again will play a post-season championship. The Blue Ridge is Class D and the Middle Atlantic Class C.

Ralph Snyder, age sixteen, a member of the Portsmouth championship American Legion team, of Ohio, is said to be signed to a St. Louis Cardinal contract.

A ball bounded off the head of a Binghamton (N. Y.) outfielder and over the fence for a home run. The player was uninjured, being that kind of a player.

Manager Frank Dessau, of Decatur, has obtained Shortstop Wingfield from the York club of the NYP league to take the place of Mulleary, who is out with an injury.

The Phillies' outfield bats 300 and the outfield of the A's has a mark of 350. Fans of Philadelphia are getting plenty of hitting.

Blind Miller, right fielder for the Philadelphia Athletics, recently caught the highest fly of his life. It was thrown from the blimp, Mayflower from an altitude of 600 feet.

As a result of a decision of the National association of Professional Baseball leagues, women will be required to pay regular admission at all parks in the league in the future.

The world moves on apace, and a friend informs us of a young ball player named Freeman, who isn't known as "Buck," and a kid pitcher named Young, who was never called "Cr."

Statistics for 25 years show that any team four games behind the leader on July 1 stands little chance of winning the flag. On September 1 in any year the team on top is almost a certain winner.

There's a Difference

Another thing that impresses itself upon the thoughtful man as he remembers along, gaining experience every day, is the marked distinction between a money-back guaranty and the money actually back.—Ohio State Journal.

Woody English Helps

Elmer "Woody" English, shortstop for the Chicago National league team, whose playing has helped keep the team in the fight for the National league pennant, at bat, and playing the infield.

Cornelius McGillicuddy Wants College Pitchers

Cornelius McGillicuddy has had more success with college pitchers than any other manager.

The backbone of the greatest team that Mr. McGillicuddy ever developed was composed of collegians.

Mack's pitching staff included Jack Coombs of Colby, Eddie Plank of Gettysburg and Charles (Chief) Bender of Carlisle.

If Huggins had three pitchers like Coombs, Plank and Bender on his staff today he would walk away with another pennant.

Huggins thinks Nikola will make good. He is a left-hander and New York needs a left-hander to take the place of Herb Pennock. Huggins does not think Prof. Ed Wells, the psychologist, is good enough to be pitched regularly. He thinks Nikola will be. If he is then Nikola will bring a welcome surprise into the New York lay-out.

Sporting Squibs

Penn State college has an 18-hole golf course.

Jimmy Braddock received $16,000 for fighting Tommy Loughran.

Cadets at West Point like football best as a sport, and their second choice is lacrosse.

Bowley, Sussex professional, is the first cricketer in England this season to score 1,000 runs.

The average polo player receives nothing and spends from $5,000 to $20,000 a year to keep his ponies in shape.

Georgia Tech sports not only pay their own way but provide considerable money for other college buildings and activities.

Blue Larkspur has won $20,000 in purses. Only six other horses in the history of the American turf have earned that sum.

The state of New York leads all other states in the matter of good roads mileage with 1,000 miles of hard-surfaced roadways.

Big Bill Middlekauff, former University of Florida football star, now is a full-fledged heavyweight boxer, engaging in bouts in the state.

Add Warren, the collegiate heavyweight, is back in the ring again after a layoff due to a broken arm, the second of his short ring career.

Jimmy Phelan's Purdue football team will play five games at home this year, including two Big Ten tilts. The state rivalry with DePauw will be renewed.

True Forgiveness

"I can forgive, but I cannot forget." In only another way of saying "I will not forgive." A forgiveness ought to be like a canceled note, torn in two and burned up, so that it never can be shown against the man.—Bertha.

Tagging Major League Base

By HERBERT W. BARKER,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

In a season that has seen the championship hopes blown to four winds by a series of injuries, Pittsburgh Pirates at least can take pride upon the fact that they finally have shaken the "Lucas bug."

Ever since June, 1927, the teams have rolled over and played dead whenever Red Lucas, star pitcher of the Cincinnati Reds, was in the box against them. Last Sunday, however, they managed to beat the red-head in a 12-inning thriller, 5 to 7. Yesterday they demonstrated that the red ace no longer can haunt his spell over them for they treated him, 10 to 5, in the only National League game of the day.

The Reds hammered Ervin Brame, Pirate right hander, for four hits and three runs in the first inning and apparently had the game won as Lucas in the box. The Cincinnatiers, however, were not to be so easily unseated. Brame pitched brilliantly until the ninth when an error and a hit by Walker's triple were the big spots of a two-run rally by the Reds. Brame and Lloyd Waner led the home run, a double and a single and Waner a pair of triples and a single. All told the Pirates got 13 hits, which seven were for extra bases. The victory placed Pittsburgh 12½ games behind the league-leading Chicago Cubs.

In the only American League game of the day, Cleveland strengthened its hold on third place by bouncing Detroit for a 4-0 loss, in a game halted by rain after five innings of play. The Indians pounded Paul Page for three runs in the first inning, and more in the fifth and then scored three in the sixth only to see the washed out of the score book when rain caused postponement of the game and the score reverted to the fifth inning. Ken Holloway held Detroit to two hits. The victory enabled Cleveland to increase its margin over fourth place St. Louis to 2½ games.
